

CODE OF CONDUCT

1. Purpose

DevsOnLoop is committed to fostering a productive, respectful, and collaborative environment for all members engaged in web development. As a student-driven club, members are expected to conduct themselves in a manner that reflects the values of the club and the college, both within and outside the campus. This Code of Conduct ensures that all members uphold the responsibilities that come with being part of DevsOnLoop.

2. Responsibilities

As members of:

- Respect: Treat fellow members, club mentors, and college staff with courtesy and professionalism. Be open to feedback and support the development of all members.
- Integrity: Uphold honesty and fairness in all club activities, including group projects, workshops, and presentations. Plagiarism or misrepresentation of work is strictly prohibited.
- Participation: Engage actively in meetings, events, and club projects. If you commit to a team or a task, follow through with it or inform the team if unable to continue.
- Collaboration: Web development is collaborative. Work constructively with others, and respect differing opinions and approaches to coding, design, and project management.

3. Prohibited Conduct

The following behaviors are unacceptable and will result in disciplinary action:

- Ragging or Bullying: Any form of harassment, intimidation, or discrimination against fellow members will not be tolerated.
- Unprofessional Conduct: Using inappropriate language, making offensive comments, or engaging in disruptive behavior during club activities.
- Plagiarism: Taking credit for work or code that is not your own is a violation of academic integrity and the spirit of the club.
- Misuse of Resources: Club resources, including online platforms, project files, and college facilities, should be used responsibly. Willful damage or misuse is unacceptable.

4. Consequences of Violating the Code

Violations of the Code of Conduct will be dealt with by the club leadership in coordination with college authorities, if necessary. Penalties may include:

- A verbal or written warning.
- Suspension from club activities.
- Permanent removal from the club.

5. Reporting Issues

If a member experiences or witnesses behavior that violates this Code of Conduct, they should report the issue to the club leaders or college staff. Reports will be handled confidentially, and appropriate action will be taken.

6. Commitment to Learning and Growth

DevsOnLoop is dedicated to helping students grow in web development skills and career readiness. By following this Code of Conduct, members ensure a positive environment that encourages creativity, learning, and collaboration.

This content captures a balance between encouraging responsible conduct and maintaining the spirit of learning and development, while also aligning with the standards of a college club.
